The Problem

This is what we're hearing:

"My daughter tried to kill herself last Thursday. She is okay and home now. I was wondering if there are resources for her that we might not know about. I am just trying to give as much support as possible. She is only 12."

"We just recently lost an employee to suicide at the company I work for. We are trying to support the family and the employees that are struggling with the loss. Who should we work with and how do we help them?"

"I have a friend who just lost her husband to suicide. How do I help her?"
